

All zones conduct references on 27th March Black Day: BSO Azad

All zones conduct references on 27th March Black Day: BSO Azad

The Central Spokesperson Baloch Students Organization Azad (BSO-A) on the eve of 27th March Black Day said that Balochistan was completely free from the British occupation on 11th August, and the free and sovereign country of Baloch nation had been formed, but the Pakistani state, disrespecting all international laws, invaded the Baloch country, deprived Baloch nation of its right to freedom and seized its rights.

The Spokesperson further said that Baloch doesn't accept this forced annexation since the day one and became resistant to it, and Baloch has kept continuity of that struggle constant till today. Since the first day, the state, to main its imperialism, has been trying to weaken and end the Baloch national movement through different tactic but the link of Baloch nation to this struggle has never been disconnected, and till today Baloch nation is in war with the state for its identity, history and lost independence.

Spokesperson further said that observing 27thMarch as Black Day is an attempt to divert the attention of international community, international media and United States towards the state barbarism and is also aimed to aware them about the historical background of this forceful annexation of Pakistan—which is not accepted by Baloch nation in any condition.

Baloch has its distinct identity, history, civilization and country. For the defence of its identity, history and country, the occupation of English was resisted and at least independence was gained from them, but Baloch nation once again had faced the domination of a colonizer on 27th March 1948 which was rejected too.

The foundation of the Baloch national struggle was kept for the defence of its independence and that national struggle has been processed through the evolutionary processes which is present in the form of an organized movement by now and is challenging the foundations of the state domination today.

Spokesperson said that an online campaign at Social Media will run on 27th March and all zones will conduct references, therefore, all activists should do preparation at large scale so that the voice against the forceful annexation of Paksitan should reach to the entire world in an organized manner.

All zones conduct references on 27th March Black Day: BSO Azad

The Central Spokesperson Baloch Students Organization Azad (BSO-A) on the eve of 27th March Black Day said that Balochistan was completely free from the British occupation on 11th August, and the free and sovereign country of Baloch nation had been formed, but the Pakistani state, disrespecting all international laws, invaded the Baloch country, deprived Baloch nation of its right to freedom and seized its rights.

The Spokesperson further said that Baloch doesn't accept this forced annexation since the day one and became resistant to it, and Baloch has kept continuity of that struggle constant till today. Since the first day, the state, to main its imperialism, has been trying to weaken and end the Baloch national movement through different tactic but the link of Baloch nation to this struggle has never been disconnected, and till today Baloch nation is in war with the state for its identity, history and lost independence.

Spokesperson further said that observing 27th March as Black Day is an attempt to divert the attention of international community, international media and United States towards the state barbarism and is also aimed to aware them about the historical background of this forceful annexation of Pakistan—which is not accepted by Baloch nation in any condition.

Baloch has its distinct identity, history, civilization and country. For the defence of its identity, history and country, the occupation of English was resisted and at least independence was gained from them, but Baloch nation once again had faced the domination of a colonizer on 27th March 1948 which was rejected too.

The foundation of the Baloch national struggle was kept for the defence of its independence and that national struggle has been processed through the evolutionary processes which is present in the form of an organized movement by now and is challenging the foundations of the state domination today.

Spokesperson said that an online campaign at Social Media will run on 27th March and all zones will conduct references, therefore, all activists should do preparation at large scale so that the voice against the forceful annexation of Paksitan should reach to the entire world in an organized manner.